Larger context for HOWEVER

I can't supervise a team, if I don't speak easily the same language that workers. The second point is I like travels. When i'm in stranger country, i want to know the people... How do they live ? What do they eat?, and so on ... And it's a great frustration when the other one not understand me because i've a bad English... What does the English will bring to me ? First of all, I think that if I improve my English, it's going to be better for myself. I mean, that I will be able to negociate with English person and I will also be able to teach to other How to write in this language. I always thought that I would be an excellent teacher because I very enjoy to be with children and I like to help them when they have difficulties. however, I think that if my English improves and becomes better, it going to gives me a nice Chance to show to others how English is important in our world ! Finally, if i've choose this program at the university it's because I think that the personal ( the teachers ) could help Me to realize my dreams. That means probably that I will teach this nice language to Children, also improve my English and maybe becoming bilingual. It will also brings me new Ways to correct my grammar and punctual errors. The end ! I'm very bad in English... I can't speaking, reading or writing in English.
